

Job Advert #20190624-01 – Sales Manager

XENOCS is a company specialized in the development and manufacturing of innovative solutions for the characterization of materials at the nanometric scale using x-ray. Our world-wide customers are composed of scientists working in universities or in company's R&D labs as well as manufacturers of analytical equipments.

For our Chinese office in Beijing, we are seeking for a

Sales Manager

Candidate Profile

Mandatory key skills:

- Interest and skills for customer relationship: listening, good contact, customer priority
- Anticipation and adaptation skills to an international and dynamic work environment on advanced scientific instruments.
- Autonomous, organized, rigorous, flexible and pragmatic
- A positive team player, self-motivated and strong analytical skills
- Chinese as native language.
- Fluent English in speaking, with good writing ability.
- Interest for travel in mainland China, sometimes with short notice

Experience: 5 years of experience required

Type of contract: Permanent position

Place of Work: Xenocs Chinese office in Beijing

Salary: According to profile and experience
Basic wage, variable bonus, social insurance, and profit-sharing

Applications (resume and cover letter) should be addressed by mail at recrutement@xenocs.com.